The agricultural primary producer in the COOPID project

Primary producers are at the core of COOPID and of the EU primary sector. How does COOPID support them?

Sometimes, it is challenging to find updated information on "best practices" in the primary production sector.

How to make my business sustainable and profitable?

What practices work best?

How to start?

The COOPID project analyses and brings together key organisations across the EU, selecting the best practices and success factors that will make a business in the sector stand out!

COOPID invites primary producers across the EU to visit these successful businesses, and learn directly from them.

Primary producers travel & learn directly from other primary producers & organisations

PEER TO PEER

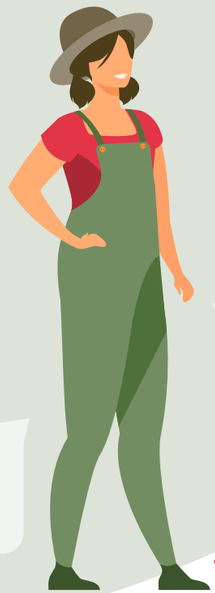

Cooperative structures

Businesses

Management systems

Exploitation strategies

Products portfolio

Providing them with a toolkit of resources and connections to continue their journey towards the bioeconomy: becoming, #COOPIDAmbassadors!

COOPID ambassadors

COOPID Ambassadors share their journey with other colleagues and peers.. making the most of the experience!

Now, would you like to become a #COOPIDAmbassador?

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme under GA No. 101000519

Infographic prepared by innovarum
Resources: Freepik.com

Coordinator - Cooperativas Agro-alimentarias de España:
Susana Rivera: rivera@agro-alimentarias.coop

@COOPID_eu
COOPID EU project
www.coopid.eu